Fiscal Year 2018

In 1952, Joan Florence Robles drove the streets of Tucson with a purse that held not just lipstick but also a gun, handcuffs and a billy club. It was specially designed for her as one of Tucson's first two women police officers.

Joan was a pioneer who broke barriers and committed her career to social justice. A college graduate, she never stopped learning about people and different cultures. She traveled the world, and her voracious appetite for reading led to a later career as a seller of rare books.

A longtime supporter of CFSA, Joan left her charitable estate to CFSA to benefit the various causes she supported during her lifetime. She exemplified what it means to walk the walk. She valued diversity in the cultures she explored through books and travel during her life, and her gifts upon her death will ensure her legacy lives on for generations to come.

Joan passed in her home at the age of 90. She was surrounded by family and friends

Diversity, caring, inclusion.

The themes of this year's annual report reflect the diversity of our mission. We bring together and work with donors from Yuma to Nogales, Tucson to Patagonia. We are over 500 individuals who gave more than $8 million to the community last year. We support nonprofits in every area of need and interest, from the arts and animals to poverty and public health. We help young parents take care of their newborn children and older adults and their families prepare for the end of life. We also award general operating, program and technical assistance grants that provide flexible support to nonprofits to build their capacity and effectiveness.

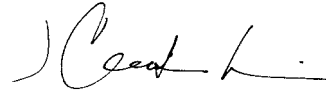

The Community Foundation for Southern Arizona is home to philanthropists who embody the caring that is such a remarkable quality of our community. Inspired by their commitment to making Southern Arizona a better place for everyone, we work with the nonprofits we support to address issues from abuse, discrimination and immigration to economic development, arts and culture and housing. Joining together in compassion, we are committed to making our beautiful community a place where all have an opportunity to not only make a living but make a life.

Seeking out and honoring different voices and opinions, we move forward on an inclusive, respectful and authentic journey of change. We believe that our strength lies in our differences as much as in our shared vision and common goals. We partner with business, government, educators and nonprofits to provide insight and solutions. We listen to the many perspectives of our communities and create opportunities and spaces for all to be heard.

Through diversity, caring and inclusion, we continue to make a difference—all thanks to you.

Our Programs

African American Legacy Fund (AALF), formerly known as the African American Initiative, AALF has a simple goal: direct dollars and foster collaboration among organizations and individuals serving the most pressing needs of the African American and greater Tucson community. The initiative mirrors others around the country promoting greater investment in the African American community. Led by a board of community leaders, the vision for AALF is to become the forum for the community to collaborate and prioritize its needs and aspirations and to improve the quality of life of everyone living in metropolitan Tucson.

Community Interactive is a series of engaging and informative live events addressing poverty, education, the arts, immigration and other concerns in Southern Arizona. Produced in partnership with Arizona Public Media, the events are free and open to the public, and offer opportunities to participate in solution-driven conversations on the challenges and potential solutions to pressing issues.

The new Latino Community Fund (LCF) is grounded in cariño, which is the Spanish word for love, caring, and compassion. Family and community are at the heart of Latino values and inspire giving. LCF promotes love for community and viewing your community as an extension of your family. Its mission is to build on the Latino legacy of giving by inspiring action and advancing love and justice within families and communities, and it focuses on Latino-led, Latino-serving nonprofits that work to create real, positive, lasting change in our community through racial equity and social justice.

The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender & Queer (LGBTQ+) Alliance Fund seeks to foster charitable giving in support of innovative programs and initiatives that benefit the LGBT community in Southern Arizona. Created in 1999 in partnership with the National Lesbian and Gay Community Funding Partnership, the Fund addresses the chronic pattern of underfunding of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender programs and supports efforts to address these issues through philanthropy and endowment building. The Alliance Fund connects donors with projects that benefit the LGBTQ community through annual competitive grant rounds.

MAP Dashboard was created to measurably improve Southern Arizona through data-driven, collective civic action and education. MAP fills a gap by providing a common collection of information upon which to evaluate our community and collaborate to address our shared issues. MAP Dashboard is sponsored by the local community and the product of a partnership between the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona, the Pima Association of Governments, the Southern Arizona Leadership Council, Sun Corridor, Inc. and the University of Arizona. The UA's Economic & Business Research Center maintains, updates and administers the MAP Dashboard website.

Pima Alliance for Animal Welfare (PAAW) is a volunteer organization working toward ensuring that all Pima County companion animals have a loving home and humane care. An initiative of CFSA, the group currently has three focus areas: a trap/neuter/return program for community cats; a marketing campaign to adopt locally, culminating in a mega adoption event; and a program to help housebound seniors and disabled individuals get what they need for their pets.

Our Services

Individuals and Families: The Community Foundation for Southern Arizona (CFSA) staff provides personalized service to individuals and families to assist them in identifying their philanthropic goals. We learn about their interests and discuss plans that align with their passion, whether it is a community effort or a specific nonprofit organization. There are many ways to fund causes during one's lifetime and beyond. There are also ways to participate in CFSA to build our investment in the community now and forever.

- Some plans are designed to support a specific charity over a number of years or to support a particular community cause of the giver's choosing
- Other plans allow the individual or family to recommend grants to various charities year after year
- Still, others may boost an individual's or a couple's income for life, resulting in a generous future gift to charity
- And other plans, help build our community's endowment fund, providing a path for the Community Foundation to address southern Arizona's most pressing needs now and into the future or support the General Scholarship Fund, providing higher education assistance to local students who are often the first in their families to earn college degrees.

Southern Arizona Nonprofit Organizations: The CFSA staff serves as a philanthropic resource to nonprofit organizations, building funds to accomplish their missions. This can be done in several ways, such as providing informational seminars to staff and board members about the benefits of estate gifting, consultations with individuals who want to make gifts to these organizations and provide endowment management services.

Southern Arizona Businesses: CFSA offers expertise and administrative support to large and small corporations and businesses to efficiently contribute to the community. While individual business needs vary, they have the opportunity to benefit from the professional administration services offered by CFSA to leverage their support to the community by:

- Distributing grants on behalf of the business and providing status reports on them, thereby reducing its internal processes
- Ensuring grants are sent to legitimate and well-run nonprofit organizations supporting the community
- Recommending specific community needs that demonstrate effective ways of accomplishing their mission.

Private Foundations: In recent years, families who have established private foundations have found that converting their Private Foundation into a Donor Advised Fund with the Community Foundation receive a number of benefits that include:

- Avoiding burdensome reporting requirements and certain taxes imposed on private foundations
- The founding donors' philanthropic wishes will continue to be honored, and although family members continue to make granting decisions, the Community Foundation will ensure that the foundation's original philanthropic objectives remain in place.

Visit www.cfsaz.org/donors/community-foundation/

Professional Advisors: Individuals rely on professional advisors — attorneys, financial planners, CPAs, trust officers, investment advisors, and insurance agents—to guide them in the process of making decisions about their estate plans. These professional advisors collaborate with CFSA staff to set up mechanisms to honor the donor's intent now and forever. They also work with us to build relationships with potential donors and with other professional advisors in the community.

CFSA's programs finished a rewarding year creating progress and increasing their reach within the community. Their commitment to enhancing lives in Southern Arizona has been unwavering, as they shared others' stories, addressed widespread concerns and supported the work of local nonprofits.

African American Legacy Fund

In 2012 a group of African American community leaders worked with CFSA to form the African American Initiative, dedicated to building philanthropic support for and capacity within in the African American Community and nonprofits that serve it. Last year, that initiative took on a new name: The African American Legacy Fund (AALF).

While objectives haven't changed, the organization has much matured since its inception explains Advisory Board Chair Wyllstyn Hill. "We've grown and developed in terms of understanding the community and how to support it. And we think that's bigger than an initiative," Hill says. "It's really about leaving a lasting legacy of philanthropy, volunteering and building networks of support."

Two programs AALF newly supported last year exemplify the collaborations shaping that legacy. Partnering with the Culture of Peace Alliance, the Fund supported the Youth Leadership Project to build knowledge and confidence among African American students at Amphi High School and help students feel more prepared and inspired to pursue leadership roles. Since 2016, the fund has awarded $ 95,000+ to 10 organizations focused on educational support for African American youth.

The Fund also turned its attention to sickle cell anemia, an inherited blood disorder that can reduce life expectancy, caused by a genetic trait found in one in 13 African American births. Partnering with the Candlelighters Childhood Cancer Foundation of Southern Arizona, AALF helped train teachers and other school personnel on how to support students dealing with the disease, personally or within their families.

Community Interactive

Last year's Community Interactive: The Arts marked the fourth in a series of free community conversations presented by the Community Foundation in partnership with Arizona Public Media, once more bringing together national and local leaders to exchange ideas around issues that shape culture and society in Southern Arizona.

Moderated by Jeffrey Brown, Chief Correspondent for Arts, Culture, and Society for PBS NewsHour, the event explored why the arts matter to business, education and our regional economy. It was also a "working session" aimed at learning from people who have improved the arts in other communities and surfacing ideas for how Southern Arizona can become an even more engaged, vital and thriving arts community.

Past Community Interactive events have focused on poverty and the working poor, education and the dynamics of Southern Arizona as a border region.

Latino Community Fund

Latinos make up 37 percent of Arizona's population and 16 percent of the U.S. population. Yet a recent study found that Latino nonprofits receive a mere one percent of the more than $410 billion of charitable dollars given annually in the United States.

"That's a staggering statistic," says Claudia Jasso, Vice-Chair of the CFSA Board of Trustees.

"And when you consider communities that are heavily Latino, like ours, that inequity is even more important to address."

To that end, Jasso formally established this past year the Latino Community Fund, our newest initiative and an evolution of the Cariño Latino Giving Circle, which she had founded with four other members of the local Latino community.

Preceding creation of the Fund, Jasso researched best practices and lessons learned at initiatives regionally and across the country, including the Arizona Community Foundation, Hispanics in Philanthropy, the San Francisco Foundation, the Latino Community Foundation (California) and the Chicago Community Trust.

A key takeaway was that the initiative should unfold in a grassroots process, evolving organically from the community itself. The Fund will also continue to operate in a "giving circle" model, which research indicates is highly effective for Latino philanthropy.

With a clearly defined purpose of strategically strengthening the Latino community and transforming lives by working for racial equity and social justice, the Fund seeks to inspire action through precise giving guidelines, including giving focused on organizations guided by Latino voices.

"We're very intentional about specifically supporting Latino-led and Latino-serving nonprofits," Jasso explains. "We believe this will inspire people across the community to join us in creating real, positive and lasting change."

LGBTQ+ Alliance Fund

Since its creation in 1999, the LGBTQ+ Alliance Fund has supported more than 60 organizations working across all domains of social and cultural needs, with awards totaling close to $810,000. Last year, the Fund was able to build on that success with an unprecedented 20 percent increase in granted funds over the previous year.

In part, the increase stemmed from a donor-funded part-time Director of Development, who equipped the Fund's volunteers to approach new audiences of potential supporters. Board Chair Sally Dodds says the increase also reflects donors responding to a federal rollback of funding, services and civil rights protections for the LGBTQ+ community. "We have a community that is really inspired to make sure there are services available and that we're able to answer the challenges we face," she explains.

Among the 16 programs funded last year was the Florence Immigrant & Refugee Rights Project, which provides litigation support for LGBTQ detainees who often face harsher treatment and greater abuse while in custody. Also newly funded, the student-driven "I Am Me Project" at Pueblo High Magnet School created a curriculum and speakers program to give students, parents, faculty and staff across the region a basic understanding of LGBTQ issues.

As the Alliance Fund celebrates its 20th anniversary year in 2019, Dodds says the group will continue to work from a stance of social justice and explore its ability to provide larger grants. "We have some serious problems in our community," she explains, citing youth suicide, aging seniors and immigration to name a few. "We'd like to provide the kind of longer-range support that really helps programs working on these issues to achieve sustainability."

MAP Dashboard

Since 2014, MAP Dashboard has provided Southern Arizona with data across a range of indicators that give insight into our region's successes, challenges and progress. From time to time, those indicators change, based in part on input gathered through public meetings.

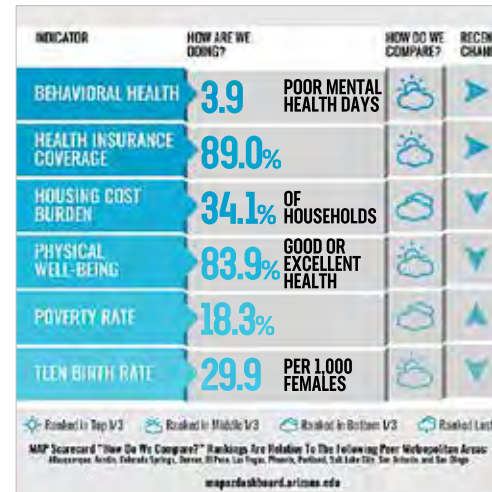

As a result, last year saw the addition of four indicators: Housing Affordability, Behavioral Health, Physical Well-being and Creative Occupations. The latter category tracks the number of people employed in a wide set of jobs that generate new ideas, technologies and expressions — from architects and engineers to healthcare workers, scientists, artists and athletes.

MAP Dashboard also launched the Community Spotlight initiative in 2018, through which local organizations share how they use MAP data. The recent spotlight detailed how Tucson Values Teachers uses MAP in its advocacy work, showing politicians and the public that Tucson's teacher pay trails wages in every one of our regional peer communities.

Additionally, MAP has continued to work with scholars to produce white papers on topics of public interest and value that are outside the project's core indicators. Last year's analysis of the region's nonprofit sector, for example, drew data from across Southern Arizona's human service nonprofits.

Findings suggested that affordable and stable housing is our region's least common form of nonprofit assistance and its most common unmet need, likely as a result of persistent unemployment, job loss and evictions. Data indicated that education was by far the most common domain of local nonprofit assistance, provided by nearly half of the study's respondents.

Pima Alliance for Animal Welfare

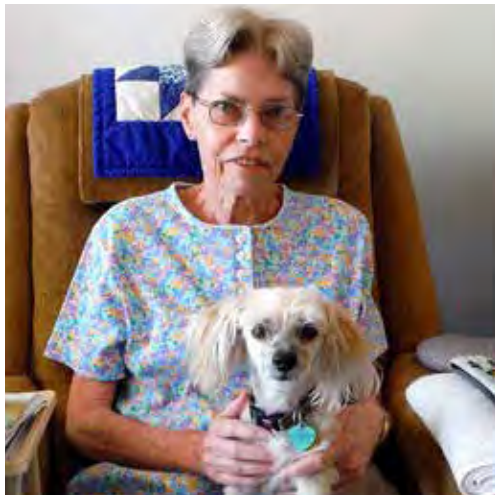

The Pima Alliance for Animal Welfare (PAAW) was created in 2012 as an initiative to facilitate collaboration among local groups and animal enthusiasts to ensure that all Pima County companion animals have a loving home and humane care.

Early on PAAW became involved in efforts to reduce the number of animals euthanized in Southern Arizona. Through much hard work on the part of many community stakeholders, our municipal shelter went from euthanizing 15,000 animals each year to now saving almost 90 percent of the pets that come through its doors, making it one of the top public shelters in the country.

Last year saw an exciting development from PAAW's Human Animal Bond workgroup, which has been working to embed animal welfare into the assistance activities provided by local social service organizations.

As a result of this work, Mobile Meals of Southern Arizona now brings pet food monthly to its clients, 60 percent of whom also need food for their companion animals. Lutheran Social Services also now provides pet food for its clients, in addition to helping them by walking dogs and cleaning up pet waste. PAAW is helping with programmatic questions and volunteer recruitment for both organizations.

Last year also saw 140 dogs and cats find their new forever homes through PAAW's fourth-annual Adopt Love Adopt Local mega-adoption event at the Tucson Expo Center. Twenty-four rescue organizations participated — some for the first time — and more than 2,000 people attended.

Effecting Change through Grantmaking

Grants Distribution FY18

Thanks to our donors, CFSA is the largest grantmaker in Southern Arizona. With a primary focus on Pima and Santa Cruz counties, we cover a seven-county region that also includes secondary markets like Cochise, Yuma, Graham, Greenlee and Maricopa counties.

Since 1980, CFSA has given over $180 million to the communities it serves. Today, we have more than $156 million in assets and over 500 funds. CFSA’s vision to improve the quality of life in Southern Arizona, would not be possible without the generosity of our donors.

Howard Moore was a longtime donor to CFSA, whose legacy is now carried on by his family, including daughter Lynda, quoted above. Howard's son Ronnie describes his father as a hard-working man whose parents put down roots in Yuma when their car broke down fleeing the Dust Bowl. He describes the Foundation's work as a way to grow Howard's impact: "It's like a big tree, and the more we hang grafts in the limbs, the more it will grow."

"Dad was a farmer,
and so for us,
his children and grandchildren, this is how we continue to plant the seeds
for him."

Howard Moore

Murryelle Bothwell lived for 30+ years in Sierra Vista, where she first established a Donor Advised Fund in 2010 through the Arizona Community Foundation of Cochise. After she moved to Tucson, she transferred her fund to CFSA in 2015. As an African American woman, a mother whose children were educated in Southern Arizona and a retired nurse practitioner, Murryelle's charitable giving is focused on education and health programs that aid and support the Black community.

"I have a small fund, and the Donor Portal has made it very easy. It's also helpful for me that the Foundation does the research on organizations and vets them."

Murryelle Bothwell

Built on a foundation of diversity.

We unite donors from all walks of life to support nonprofits working in every area of need.

Built on a foundation of caring.

We're inspired by the compassion and courage of a community dedicated to making a difference.

"There is an inexplicable joy and satisfaction in giving and knowing that you had an impact – that you helped someone."

Connie and Dick Luebke

Dick and Connie Luebke established a Donor Advised Fund at the Foundation last year, having first come to know of CFSA through Social Venture Partners. In addition to creating college scholarships for high school seniors, their giving centers on helping women and youth more broadly, including through programs that support their emotional and psychological needs. A local favorite is Tu Nidito, which helps families impacted by illness or death, with a vision that no child grieves alone.

"We've been extremely pleased by the flexibility, thoroughness and commitment in working with CFSA. It's more than we could have expected."

Phil and Carol Lyons

Phil and Carol Lyons connected with the Community Foundation in the wake of the Tucson shootings of 2011. Wanting to create something positive from that tragedy, they established a University of Arizona scholarship, finding that CFSA could structure it to their specifications in ways other organizations could not. More recently, they created a Donor Advised Fund and have been "thrilled and gratified" by CFSA's depth of work in coordinating their grant process as well as organizing proposals and providing insights on potential grantees.

Kathy Alexander and Paul Lindsey established their Donor Advised Fund more than a decade ago. They plan their annual giving at the start of each year and appreciate how CFSA's online Donor Portal makes it easy for them to carry out that plan and track their giving throughout the year. They've long been avid supporters of the local nonprofit Handi-Dogs, which helps older adults and people with disabilities gain independence through a range of dog-training services.

"The Community Foundation has set things up in a way that makes it so easy. And it seems to get better and better. It has been a completely positive experience."

Kathy Alexander
and Paul Lindsey

Hanna Miller and Luke Jakobsen were both raised in multicultural environments, where they learned the importance of inclusion in all aspects of life. Luke's experience as a transgender man further cemented the couple's dedication to supporting organizations that demonstrate inclusion by listening to and ensuring access for people with lived experiences of injustice. Last year they established a Donor Advised Fund with CFSA as a way to help invest in organizations that help society move forward by decolonizing wealth and philanthropy.

"If you really want to maximize your impact on the issues that matter to you, the Community Foundation gives you resources to do that and helps you be a more informed donor."

Hanna Miller
and Luke Jakobsen

Southern Arizona's many voices,

Civic Leadership Campaign

In our role as convener, facilitator, collaborator and educator, our leadership activities address important issues as they arise and provide an enormous return on investment. Our fees do not support this essential civic leadership work. The annual gifts made by these donors' help ensure that CFSA can continue to be responsive and participate in creating regional solutions.

Richard Whitmer

"I photograph people in Southern Arizona, Northern Mexico, and everywhere. Photography has given me the permission I wouldn't give myself otherwise to talk to strangers, learn their stories, and celebrate the beauty that happens when people are doing things they love and care about." Richard's photo of Murryelle Bothwell appears on page 11.

Leticia Welch

is an Arizona native who grew up in a small mining town just outside Tucson. A University of Arizona graduate, she received a BFA in graphic design. She is a designer, photographer, business owner. She photographed Dick and Connie Luebke — see page 12.

Jeff Smith

has been a keen observer of Tucson for over 40 years. We will value the potential and unique qualities in everyone as we endeavor to empower them to achieve their full potential in Tucson. His photograph of Hanna Miller and Luke Erickson, appears on page 14.
