

Together, we are building an equitable and vibrant community for all.

In 2020, the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona celebrated our 40th anniversary by honoring our visionary founders, as well as the individuals who have allowed CFSA to grow and increase its impact over the last four decades. We also celebrated surpassing $200 million in grants to the community in partnership with you, our generous donors.

In March 2020, we leveraged our history and our resources to respond to the greatest challenge of our time – COVID-19. Partnering with local businesses, foundations and individuals, CFSA moved quickly to offer critical funding and support to nonprofit organizations in Southern Arizona.

As we look to a future reshaped by the pandemic, our staff and board members worked together to develop a new strategic plan and purpose statement, “To create an equitable and vibrant community for all Southern Arizonans by connecting donors to the causes they care about, now and forever.”

Our success has been the result of people coming together – people like you that are committed to making our community a better place for all.

Our Initiatives

The African American Legacy Fund (AALF) works to address the educational and economic disparities faced by African Americans who call Southern Arizona home. Through its grant making, AALF supports innovative educational programs for African American youth in the community. AALF is led by an advisory board whose members are committed to making an impact in our community, raising funds each year to grant to nonprofit organizations and building an endowment fund to ensure philanthropic dollars are available in perpetuity.

The Center for Healthy Nonprofits works to strengthen the Southern Arizona nonprofit community by offering free and reduced cost capacity-building workshops and training for nonprofit professionals and volunteers. It is essential that nonprofit organizations keep up with best practices and find the means to learn new skills and develop their workforce and governing boards as they work to fulfill their missions. Work in the nonprofit sector presents unique challenges, often stemming from too few resources. The Center works to fill that resource gap and maximize the impact of every nonprofit.

The Community Foundation Campus opened in January of 2019 as a shared space for community advancement. The Campus was designed to strengthen Southern Arizona's nonprofit community by cultivating an environment that promotes networking, partnerships, and shared learning. The Campus spans more than 24,000 square feet across three buildings with a central courtyard. It offers open and enclosed offices for lease to nonprofits, nonprofit suites, shared amenities, numerous meeting and event spaces, and a drop-in coworking space.

The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender & Queer (LGBTQ+) Alliance Fund seeks to foster charitable giving in support of innovative programs and initiatives that benefit the LGBTQ+ community in Southern Arizona. Created in 1999 in partnership with the National Lesbian and Gay Community Funding Partnership, the Alliance Fund addresses the chronic pattern of underfunding of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender programs and supports efforts to address these issues through philanthropy and endowment building. The Alliance Fund connects donors with projects that benefit the LGBTQ+ community through annual competitive grant rounds.

Making Action Possible (MAP) Dashboard was created to measurably improve Southern Arizona through data-driven, collective civic action and education. MAP fills a gap by providing a common collection of information upon which to evaluate our community and collaborate to address our shared issues. MAP is the product of a partnership between the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona, the Pima Association of Governments, the Southern Arizona Leadership Council, Sun Corridor, Inc. and the University of Arizona's Eller College of Management.

Pima Alliance for Animal Welfare (PAAW) works to ensure that all Pima County companion animals have a loving home and humane care. An initiative of CFSA, the group currently has three focus areas: building up and spreading the word about resources for people and their pets; a marketing campaign to adopt locally; and a program to help housebound seniors and disabled individuals get what they need for their pets.

Our Services

Individuals and Families: The Community Foundation for Southern Arizona (CFSA) staff members provide personalized service to individuals and families to assist them in identifying and actualizing their philanthropic goals. We learn about their interests and recommend a combination of giving vehicles to best achieve those goals. Some giving vehicles are designed to support a specific charity over a number of years or to support a particular community cause of the donor's choosing. Others allow the individual or family to receive an immediate tax deduction with the continuing ability to recommend grants to various charities year after year.

There are also ways to partner with CFSA to build our investment in the community. Understanding that the needs of a community change over time, many donors support our community's endowment fund, providing a path for CFSA to address Southern Arizona's most pressing needs, now and into the future.

Southern Arizona Nonprofit Organizations: In addition to the financial support provided to Southern Arizona nonprofits through donor advised grants and competitive grantmaking, CFSA also supports local nonprofits with capacity-building and technical assistance through its Center for Healthy Nonprofits.

The Center's training programs include a variety of workshops, roundtables, and seminars featuring both "hot topics" and basic nonprofit management and leadership curricula. By tapping into the rich resource of the nonprofit consulting community in Southern Arizona, as well as nationally recognized experts, the Center offers nonprofit valuable guidance and skill development to benefit organizations of all sizes.

CFSA also provides endowment management services for nonprofits ready to engage in endowment building to provide financial support to their organization in perpetuity.

Supporting Organizations and Geographic Affiliates

Southern Arizona Businesses: CFSA offers expertise and administrative support to large and small corporations and businesses to efficiently contribute to the community. While individual business needs vary, they have the opportunity to benefit from the professional administration services offered by CFSA to leverage their support to the community by:

- Distributing grants on behalf of the business and providing status reports on them, thereby reducing its internal processes.
- Ensuring grants are sent to legitimate nonprofit organizations supporting the community.
- Recommending specific community needs that demonstrate effective ways of accomplishing their mission.

Private Foundations: In recent years, families who have established private foundations have found that converting their private foundation into a donor advised fund with the Community Foundation receive a number of benefits that include:

- Avoiding burdensome reporting requirements and certain taxes imposed on private foundations.
- The founding donors' philanthropic wishes will continue to be honored, and although family members continue to make granting decisions, the Community Foundation will ensure that the original philanthropic objectives remain in place.

Professional Advisors: Individuals rely on professional advisors — attorneys, financial planners, CPAs, trust officers, investment advisors, and insurance agents — to guide them in the process of making decisions about their estate plans. These professional advisors collaborate with CFSA staff to set up mechanisms to honor the donor's intent now and forever. They also work with us to build relationships with potential donors and with other professional advisors in the community.

Supporting Organizations

CFSA Properties, Inc. holds, owns, and operates real properties to benefit the mission of the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona.

The David S. and Norma R. Lewis Foundation supports global initiatives that give people the tools and resources to build hope, equality, opportunity, justice, equity and compassion in human relations. They also support Southern Arizona creative-arts organizations and initiatives that help the less fortunate succeed.

Howard V. Moore Foundation makes distributions to the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona in support of philanthropic purposes.

African American Legacy Fund

$136,000+
granted since 2013 to support innovative educational programs for African American youth

Founded in 2013 by esteemed educator, philanthropist, and civic leader Dr. Anna Jolivet, Ph.D., the African American Legacy Fund (AALF) works to address the educational and economic disparities faced by African Americans who call Southern Arizona home. Through its grantmaking, AALF supports innovative educational programs for African American youth in the community. To date, the African American Legacy Fund has provided $136,000 in grants to twelve nonprofit collaborations.

Dr. Jolivet had a vision of what Southern Arizona can be when we bring together people, money, and goodwill to make sure all of our children, youth, and families have the opportunities and resources to prosper. Last year, in honor of the continued guidance provided by Dr. Jolivet's vision, African American Legacy Fund leadership established the Anna Jolivet African American Endowment Fund to ensure her legacy continues to support the growth and development of the Black community.

In light of the social injustices highlighted nationally and locally, African American Legacy Fund leadership determined to do more than craft a statement. They prepared an action plan to commit to the real work that needs to happen in order to create a more just and equitable society. In addition to continued grantmaking and endowment building, the African American Legacy Fund has set the following priorities to guide their work in the community:

- Increase leadership capacity in Southern Arizona's African American community.
- Provide postsecondary educational scholarships to local African American students.
- Commit to community education about political issues as well as voter education.
- Engage and bolster Black/African American philanthropy.
- Bring awareness and support to Black-owned businesses and Black-led organizations in Southern Arizona.

Community Foundation Campus

In 2019, the dream of creating a nonprofit campus for Southern Arizona became a reality. Thanks to generous support from our donors, the Community Foundation Campus offers nonprofit organizations multiple ways to convene, collaborate, and grow.

The Campus addressed a critical need in our community for a central hub of shared learning where experts share knowledge openly, mentorship happens spontaneously, and collaboration flows naturally. Since opening, the Campus has welcomed hundreds of nonprofit professionals and hosted over 300 trainings, meetings, and networking events. These meetings and events brought together multiple sectors to share expertise and ideas, increasing capacity across the community to tackle emerging and systemic issues.

In addition to providing office and event space for nonprofits, the Campus also offers nonprofit professionals the opportunity to participate in workshops, free trainings, and social events. The social events at Campus are purposefully “agenda-less” to give nonprofit professionals time to build relationships with their peers and lay the foundation for future collaborative work.

From self-care workshops to CPR classes, CFSA tenants have access to numerous free resources.

CF Campus offers an open and inviting breakroom for event attendees and tenants.

Pre-COVID-19, nonprofit professionals gathered every other month at the CF Campus for agenda-less networking events to build relationships and make new connections.

LGBTQ+ Alliance Fund

granted since 1999 to improve the lives of LGBTQ+ members of our community.

The LGBTQ+ Alliance Fund was created in 1999 by the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona with support from the National Lesbian and Gay Community Funding Partnership. The Fund addresses the chronic underfunding of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender programs through philanthropy and endowment building. To date, the LGBTQ+ Alliance Fund has awarded 194 grants, totaling $943,397, to more than 70 local organizations.

In 2020, LGBTQ+ Alliance Fund celebrated its 21st year of giving back to regional queer initiatives and programs. The Fund honored this critical milestone in two ways: they awarded $72,060 to 14 organizations – their largest grant-round since 1999 – and they welcomed Andrés Cano as the organization's first Director in its 21-year history. As Director, Cano is working to expand the Fund's philanthropic grantmaking, increase the Fund's endowment, and further develop the Fund's community presence.

Grants ranging from $2,000 to $10,000 were awarded to organizations addressing a variety of needs in Southern Arizona's LGBTQ+ community.

The Florence Project, one of this year's Alliance Fund grantees, offers free legal and social services to help individuals in detention. LGBTQ+ immigrants from around the world face disproportionately high levels of discrimination, violence, and persecution as a direct result of their sexual and gender identities. Many continue to experience harassment and abuse while detained in U.S. immigration detention facilities. "We are deeply grateful for the LGBTQ+ Alliance Fund's support, which will allow us to continue providing free legal services for LGBTQ+ immigrants in detention during a time in which immigrants' rights are under attack across the country," said Lauren Dasse, Executive Director at the Florence Project. "This generous grant will help give our clients a fighting chance at justice."

The number of LGBTQ+ seniors in Southern Arizona continues to increase, and Southern Arizona Senior Pride offers critical support services to those in need. "With support from the LGBTQ+ Alliance Fund, Southern Arizona Senior Pride has been given the opportunity to grow toward sustainability as we provide critical social, cultural, and well-being services," said Lavina Tomer, Volunteer Executive Director at Senior Pride. "The Alliance Fund has given generous funding, recognition, and support for LGBTQI+ older adults, our community's treasured activists, historians, wise ones, and friends."

MAP Dashboard

The award-winning Making Action Possible (MAP) Dashboard was formed through a unique partnership between the University of Arizona, Community Foundation for Southern Arizona, and Southern Arizona Leadership Council to develop a project to measurably improve Southern Arizona through data-driven, collective civic action and education. The MAP provides users with reliable and accurate data about our region's progress in key areas of community wellbeing, as well as access to the latest information and research. The MAP Dashboard fills a resource gap by providing a common collection of research and information upon which to evaluate and measure key socio-economic indicators in our community and collaborate to address our shared issues.

The content on the MAP Dashboard is constantly expanding and changing in response to the most pressing community issues. In addition to the regular data updates done throughout the year, 19 feature articles and three white papers appeared on the MAP website. These included articles on the economic impacts of the COVID-19 outbreak, the impacts of automation on the workforce, affordable housing, and much more.

Community outreach and engagement is a key part of the MAP Dashboard. Researchers from the University of Arizona's Economic and Business Research Center gave 14 public presentations to local residents last year including the Economic Outlook Luncheon and Breakfast with the Economists, the MAP Talk webinar series, and the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona's housing affordability event that brought together over 100 individuals from multiple sectors at the Community Foundation Campus.

Pima Alliance for Animal Welfare

The Pima Alliance for Animal Welfare (PAAW), an initiative of CFSA, started in 2012 to ensure that all Pima County companion animals have a loving home and humane care. At that time, almost 13,000 animals a year were being euthanized annually at Pima Animal Care Center (PACC) and our community needed to act. Today, PACC has a 90% save rate.

Over the past eight years, PAAW has supported Pima County's animals by building voice and collaboration amongst stakeholders in the animal welfare world. PAAW brings together animal-loving representatives from nonprofits, county shelters, rescue groups, churches, businesses, and more and has hosted 15 community-wide gatherings with trainings and presentations by animal experts.

In 2014, PAAW members organized the first annual Adopt Love, Adopt Local mega adoption event for all the community's rescue groups. In 2018, PAAW members launched the nationally-recognized program "Helping People, Helping Pets." This program has built partnerships between animal welfare and social service organizations to provide home delivered pet food to seniors.

On October 2019, more than 55 animal welfare advocates gathered at the CF Campus for PAAW's Biannual Meeting. In addition to sharing general updates and announcements, attendees learned about feline behavior from a local veterinarian and effective shelter storytelling with a local social media expert.

Grants Distribution FY20

Thanks to our donors, CFSA is the largest grantmaker in Southern Arizona. With a primary focus on Pima and Santa Cruz counties, we cover a seven-county region that also includes secondary grantmaking markets like Cochise, Yuma, Graham, Greenlee, and Pinal counties.

Since 1980, CFSA has given over $200 million to the communities it serves. Today, we have more than $155 million in assets and over 500 funds. CFSA’s vision to improve the quality of life in Southern Arizona would not be possible without the generosity of our donors.

On March 9, 2020, nearly 600 friends and community partners gathered together to celebrate 40 years of community collaboration and philanthropy.

40 Years of Impact

Making A Difference, Now And Forever

In 1980, Buddy Amos, along with James Burns, Edward R. Moore, Jim Click, Jr., and F. Granger Weil, created a community endowment organization that they called the Greater Tucson Area Foundation and laid out a framework for investment. Today, with more than $155,000,000 in assets and grants totaling over $10,000,000 a year, the organization they started more than 40 years ago has grown beyond their wildest dreams and is facilitating giving, effectively changing lives, and creating impact every single day.

In honor of the CFSA's 40th Anniversary, hundreds of donors, current and former staff members, current and former trustees, community partners, and nonprofit grantees gathered together to celebrate the tremendous growth of the Foundation and recognize the remarkable individuals who laid the groundwork for that success.

In addition to presenting our 2020 Annual Awards – Buddy Amos Founders Award, Southern Arizona Civic Leadership Award, Diane Lynn Anderson Memorial Award, and Igor Gorin Memorial Award, national speaker Maria Hinojosa shared her perspective on our unique region.

2020 Annual Awards

Each year at our annual event, the Community Foundation honors individuals whose compassion and commitment help to create a more vibrant and equitable community for all Southern Arizonans.

Leza Carter, founder of Tucson Village Farm, received the Buddy Amos Founders Award and Shay Beider, founder of Integrative Touch for Kids, received the Southern Arizona Civic Leadership Award.

Dr. Fabiane Hirsch Kruse, co-founder of Friends of Aphasia, and Dr. Stephanie MacFarland, with Project FOCUS at The University of Arizona, were both recognized with the Diane Lynn Anderson Memorial Award.

Special guest Maria Hinojosa addresses nearly 600 attendees.

Former Trustees Carmen Marriott, Betsy Bolding, Larry Adamson, and Richard Munding.

“Forty years ago, a group of individuals came together to create the Greater Tucson Area Foundation.

As leaders in the Tucson community, our founders knew that something different was needed: a place that could support donors, nonprofits, and the community forever.

Our success has been the result of people coming together – people like you who are committed to making our community a better place for all.”

– J. Clinton Mabie, CFSA President and CEO

Center For Healthy Nonprofits

Nonprofit organizations are critical partners in CFSA's efforts to create an equitable and vibrant community for all. Beyond grantmaking, the Foundation is committed to increasing the availability of organizational development resources for local nonprofits. Established in 2020, CFSA's Center for Healthy Nonprofits strengthens the Southern Arizona nonprofit community by offering free and low-cost support for nonprofit professionals and volunteers.

The Center's inaugural year started strong with the provision of numerous trainings and workshops to local nonprofit professionals at our Community Foundation Campus. Between July 1, 2019 and June 30, 2020, the Center provided over 80 hours of leadership support through 40 sessions.

Listening & Responding

By tapping into the rich resource of the nonprofit consulting community in Southern Arizona, as well as nationally recognized experts, Center presenters provide valuable guidance and insights with practical application in organizations of all sizes.

"The Center provides insight into emerging issues and opportunities to help inform the strategic priorities of the Foundation. By listening and responding to the challenges facing nonprofits, the Center helps our community look beyond survival and towards recovery."

— Deborah Maher, Ask an Expert Presenter

Coping With COVID-19

With the outbreak of COVID-19, the Center quickly pivoted to a virtual format to safely support the talent and growth of the nonprofit professionals and volunteers serving our community. Facing the challenge of filling resource gaps created by the pandemic, the Center added new remote resources to help nonprofits navigate the challenges of COVID-19 and adapt for the future.

Dr. Angie Donelson, a presenter for the Center, expressed the necessity of continuing the Center's work during the pandemic, asserting, "The Center addresses a need in the field, especially during COVID-19, of how will people get support and training. It helps you keep an eye to the future and develop thinking processes for nonprofit survival."

A New Normal

The Coping With COVID-19 series launched in April 2020 and received significant response from the nonprofit community. Initial sessions focused on planning and decision-making, guidance using technology for meetings and programming, crisis response skills, financial forecasting, and remote management.

It soon became clear that nonprofits needed and wanted even more support and connection in their new Zoom-filled normal. The Center responded with virtual versions of current programming, like “Ask An Expert” and self-care workshops, and then added even more opportunities for nonprofits to convene and collaborate in an increasingly distanced world.

Becky Slade, Director of Development at Tu Nidito Children and Family Services, shared, “I appreciate that the Center delivers on its mission to help fill resource gaps for our community nonprofits by providing these free workshops that have been so valuable to my organization's growth.”

Ask An Expert

The Center continues to offer workshops on topics critical to all nonprofits, such as board governance, strategic planning, fund development, human resources, and marketing, to assist with individual and organizational development during the pandemic and beyond.

Peer-to-Peer Roundtables

Peer-to-Peer Roundtables build a space for nonprofit professionals to share experiences, resources, and support. The Center offers two roundtable groups: Human Resources and Nonprofit Communications. The topics for each roundtable are tailored to the group's specific needs. The Center then facilitates by providing expert presenters, resources, and guidance to support those needs.

Lynn Davis, Executive Director of Sonoran Glass School, and a participant in the Center's Human Resources Roundtable, expressed the sense of fellowship the group has provided her. She shared, “It's important for nonprofit professionals to have a safe space to build community.”

CEO/ED Survival Series

The CEO/ED Survival Series offers support for newer nonprofit Executive Directors and CEOs. Hosted by Patti Caldwell and Paula Van Ness, both drawing upon decades of experience as nonprofit CEOs, the Survival Series is designed to give a cohort of newer Executive Directors and CEOs practical information that will help them thrive as an extraordinary leader of a successful nonprofit organization.

Nonprofit professionals gathered in-person for trainings at the CF Campus and then via Zoom when COVID-19 struck.

“This has been one of the most valuable growth opportunities I’ve ever had. I came directly from education and government. I know the field, but I wasn’t trained for nonprofit leadership.

When I saw the opportunity for the survival series I hoped it could help me understand nonprofits in the broader sense, and help me think more like a CEO than an educational leader. I’ve gained all of that and more. I’m beyond grateful for this series and all that you’ve done.”

– Melissa Hosten,
CEO/ED Survival
Series Participant

“I believe real human needs are best met by giving rather than receiving. I believe the fact is that it is impossible to give away more than you receive.” – David Lewis

A Legacy Of Connections

Towards Equity & Justice

Born in 1925 in Shelby, Ohio, David Lewis was ingrained with the belief in giving back to and serving his community. This lifelong commitment was a priority in every community he lived in, including Southern Arizona. David graduated high school at sixteen and attended Yale University for Metallurgy, both before and after his time as a U.S. Naval Officer during World War II. After his education and military service, David founded a very successful welding and industrial gases distribution company in St. Louis, Missouri.

Through his parents, his time as a business owner, and his many travels around the world, David came to believe that the cornerstone of civil society was equity in access and opportunity. He was well ahead of the times in his beliefs and actions. In the 1960s, he changed his company's hiring practices to better reflect St. Louis' racial diversity. The company also committed to annually hiring individuals recently released from the Missouri prison system.

Leveling The Playing Field

David and his wife Norma believed strongly in social and economic justice. They both wanted to nurture the full range of human potential, and supported local and global organizations that provided people the tools and resources needed to build hope, equality, and opportunity. David was acutely aware that the world was unfair and, as an artist, Norma understood just how easy it is to squash creativity.

In 1981, David retired and he and Norma moved from St. Louis to Carmel, California. While Norma focused her time on her art, particularly her sculptures, David attended Starr King School for the Ministry where he explored the relationship between spirituality and social and economic justice.

“He understood that the world was not fair and that everyone did not have the same opportunities or access. He was interested in leveling the playing field, before that really even became a term.”

“When Dave and I were in New Guinea a few years back, we were stunned by the natural talent of the natives and particularly the children. Everyone was an artist. ...No one had ever told them they couldn’t do it.

The degree to which we overcome the barriers, the degree to which we are fully engaged, willing to take risks, and ask the best of ourselves is the degree to which we live lives that have been uniquely our own.”

– Norma Lewis

Connections For Good

In 2006, David and Norma moved to Arizona where they both lived out the remainder of their lives. They quickly made connections and became a philanthropic force for good in the Southern Arizona community. In addition to supporting nonprofits that promoted justice and equity, David and Norma were passionate supporters of the arts and education.

They supported numerous local arts organizations, including the Rogue Theatre. As a former board member, David believed that their productions rivaled those of any major theater in the country.

In addition, David and Norma helped found the Scholarship Program for employees at Splendido, where they lived during their time in Arizona.

Norma passed away in 2010, and David in 2015. The David and Norma Lewis Foundation was established as a supporting organization of the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona to continue their philanthropic work.

David Lewis' Principles for Life & Business (c. 1955)

- 1 I believe a sense of humor is one of the most valuable possessions in life.
- 2 I believe that all humans possess a basic dignity that must never be violated, whether you are selling a person something, buying from him, hiring him or firing him. We honor that dignity in those we work with when we help them use their talents by utilizing their strong points rather than dwelling on their weaknesses.
- 3 I believe we have all been called to work in some vocation in this life, and that our work should add to our joy and our fulfillment. When it does not, we should look to other fields in which to labor.
- 4 I believe that all people work better and achieve more by cultivation of selfdiscipline, rather than depending on external discipline to completely guide their lives.
- 5 I believe real human needs are best met by giving rather than receiving. I believe the fact is that it is impossible to give away more than you receive.
- 6 I believe that a positive thinking person, that is, one who views life, people, and his vocation as dynamic rather than routine, will always be more fulfilled than his negative thinking counterpart.
- 7 I believe that the most exciting experience open to a person in this life is the opportunity to help build people.
- 8 I believe that no man can ever truly be fulfilled until he first knows himself, his strengths and weaknesses, his abilities to build and destroy, and to love and hate. The genuinely humble person is the one who knows who he really is.
- 9 I believe that the really learned man knows that education is not a destination but a continuing journey.
- 10 I believe that people should be compensated and promoted on the basis of actual contribution to the objectives of the company. Activity and "busyness" are not always the true measures of what a person has contributed.
- 11 I believe that integrity pays off in the long run.
- 12 I believe that when we see a complex solution to a problem as our only course of action that we probably do not yet understand the problem we are attacking.
- 13 Under our economic system, profit is the basis of our compensation for the time, effort, money, and concern we have expended in providing goods or performing a service. Good profits therefore usually means that we are doing a good job.

With support from our generous donors, supporters, and partners, CFSA has awarded over $3.5 million in COVID-19 relief funding.

Responding To COVID-19

COVID-19 Response Grants

In 2020, our community faced a challenge unlike anything we've faced before. The impact of COVID-19 on the nonprofit community is unprecedented. Within weeks, it affected the capacity and sustainability of every type of nonprofit — from education to the environment, affordable housing to behavioral health services, animal welfare to the arts. In response, CFSA established a robust COVID-19 Community Response Strategy to meet the needs of critical nonprofit partners and the communities they serve.

CFSA moved quickly, establishing two COVID-19 relief funds and leading a community response that included support from local foundations, corporations, and individuals to provide greatly needed financial and technical assistance to nonprofits throughout Southern Arizona. An application process and community review committee were soon established and applications opened on March 30th. The first round of COVID-19 Response Grants were awarded on April 10th.

Phase One: Rapid Response

The first phase of CFSA's COVID-19 response focused on providing rapid relief to our nonprofit partners through our Nonprofit Event Relief Fund and our Community Support Fund. Grant awards continued weekly for three months, and by June 30th more than $1.5 million in CFSA COVID-19 Response Grants had been distributed to over 90 nonprofits in Pima and Santa Cruz Counties.

Priority was given to organizations providing critical resources and services to Southern Arizona's most vulnerable residents: healthy meals and rental assistance for low-income families, childcare support for frontline healthcare workers, home-delivered meals for seniors, and personal protective equipment for first responders. In May 2020, we reached out to our nonprofit partners to better understand their anticipated needs in response to COVID-19. Nonprofits shared that continued grant funding and technical assistance were top priorities.

Phase Two: Recover + Renew

Our second — and current — response phase emphasizes a three-pronged approach to supporting nonprofits in Southern Arizona: continued COVID-focused grantmaking through our COVID-19 Response Grants; increased capacity-building support through CFSA's Center for Healthy Nonprofits; and technical assistance at scale through existing programs like Catchafire and new partnerships with the Eller College of Management at The University of Arizona.

Beginning in August 2020, CFSA facilitated the We Are One | Somos Uno CARES Act Nonprofit Continuity Grant Program. Created by the Mayor and Council of Tucson, the program supported nonprofits in Tucson and South Tucson affected by the pandemic. A total of $1,187,500 in funding was awarded to 71 nonprofits through this partnership.

El Rio Community Health

Healthcare workers continue to risk their safety while caring for fellow Arizonans during the COVID-19 pandemic. Many of these individuals have children and are without childcare options due to school and daycare closures and social isolation requirements. "Receiving this grant will ensure El Rio Community Health's employees have support for childcare while they continue to provide care to our 113,564 patients," shared Brenda Goldsmith, Executive Director of El Rio Foundation.

International Indian Treaty Council

"The Coronavirus crisis is seriously impacting our reservations and communities, showing us the urgent need to plant food in family and community gardens," shared Andrea Carmen, Executive Director of International Indian Treaty Council. "We thank the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona for recognizing the importance of these community projects in response to the pandemic and beyond as we work for a resilient future."

Sahuarita Food Bank

The Sahuarita Food Bank experienced a dramatic increase in demand for services due to the COVID-19 pandemic, resulting in the need to transition to a "drive-through model of food distribution and the need for increased food storage and material handling," said Curt Keim, Vice President of the Food Bank. "CFSA's immediate financial support has already allowed us to purchase a remote intercom to create social distancing, order high-protein commodities, and add additional staffing to provide interpretation for our Spanish-speaking clients."

"We continue to reach out to underserved and minority populations with this message: we can prevent the damage poor health and COVID-19 is causing in our bodies, our families, and our communities through working together."

— Wanda F. Moore

Patagonia Youth Enrichment Center

The Patagonia Youth Enrichment Center provides a safe place where youth can come together to play, study, build community, learn leadership and life skills, and receive job/career guidance. While their doors were forced to close during the pandemic, Anna Coleman, Director of the Center, and her daughters, have found unique ways to support the youth they serve. PYEC has handed out approximately 6,000 dinners, 1,200 food boxes, 50 Christmas meals, and 150 activity kits from the youth center since COVID-19 began. The Center has also made personal calls to their youth clients to check in and support their mental health while being socially isolated.

Sarver Heart Minority Outreach Program

Sarver Heart Minority Outreach Program was launched in 2009 to teach chest-compression-only CPR to minority populations and share heart health education information. Health care disparities among minorities and lack of insurance are making this population more vulnerable to COVID-19, yet they are having the greatest challenge getting the information and testing. Program founder Wanda F. Moore shared, "We are very grateful for the opportunity to educate our community and provide support during COVID-19 with the help and partnership of CFSA."

CFSA is committed to providing nonprofit organizations the financial and technical assistance they need to rebuild, restructure, and reopen to serve the community.

Iskashitaa Refugee Network

Iskashitaa Refugee Network (IRN) serves United Nations refugees and asylum seekers who have been resettled in Tucson from over 30 ethnic groups across Africa, Asia, and the Middle East. Iskashitaa's innovative, food-based programming helps them achieve self-sufficiency and citizenship, while also reducing food waste and increasing food security throughout our entire community. "Sometimes we are swimming in grapefruit, sometimes we are lying in it but rest assured no grapefruit needs to be left behind because Iskashitaa has families to feed and other organizations that depend on us for fresh produce on a weekly basis" shared Executive Director Barbara Eiswerth. "We are so grateful to CFSA for the support."

An asylum seeker from Central Africa that interns with Iskashitaa recently shared, "Wow, my first real blanket in the USA and fresh fruit every week." He is supported by IRN with housing, food, incidentals, and a new lease on life without fear of persecution.

Youth On Their Own

Youth On Their Own's CEO, Elizabeth Slater, shared that, "COVID-19 has significantly affected youth experiencing homelessness." Youth On Their Own (YOTO) provides homeless teens with support to stay healthy, safe, and in school. "The grant from CFSA's COVID-19 Response Fund made it possible for us to provide Summer Stipends to over 1,000 high school students in Pima County. This emergency funding is ensured that these youth were safe, fed, and healthy this summer, so they were able to return to school in the fall. We are incredibly grateful for your support of YOTO students!"

Mariposa Community Health Center

Mariposa Community Health Center is a patient-centered healthcare home that ensures access to culturally appropriate, primary care and community-based education regardless of an individual's ability to pay. With locations in Nogales, Rio Rico, Patagonia and Tubac, Mariposa Community Health Center facilitates access to specialty care and provide services and programs that respond to community and patient needs. Since March 2020, they have made numerous changes to their workflows and processes to ensure patient safety while continuing to offer quality health services. For example, the Center has implemented curbside pick-up for patient prescriptions and a home delivery prescription service for patients who are at higher risk for COVID-19 or have no means of transportation.

Habitat For Humanity Tucson

Habitat For Humanity Tucson works to create a more compassionate and just world by bringing people together to build homes, communities, and hope. The challenges presented by COVID-19 underscored the fundamental importance of having a safe and affordable shelter. T. VanHook, CEO of Habitat for Humanity Tucson, stated "Decent shelter is something we all need to thrive. The impact of a safe and decent home has never been clearer. With increased precautions and community support, volunteers can continue building for families in our community."

Felicia's Farm

"Hunger has no gender; hunger has no color of the skin; hunger has no religion. It is all around us. It is our neighbor, the child walking the street, the elderly person or the homeless," said Felicia's Farm Executive Director, Marvin Kirchler. "The CFSA grant will help us cover immediate demands to pay field workers to plant, maintain, and harvest, and will help us continue our daily operations including paying for water, feed, and supplies," Kirchler continued.

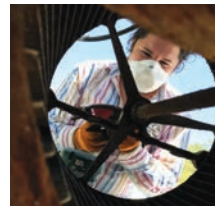

Friends of PAAC

The effects of COVID-19 are far-reaching, impacting almost every aspect of life in Southern Arizona. Some people experiencing financial instability are being faced with the difficult decision of rehoming their family pets. "We are honored to be a recipient of a CFSA COVID-19 Response Fund grant," said Friends of PAAC Board Chair, Tammi Barrick. "This generous gift will enable us to help pets stay with their families who may be struggling financially or even facing eviction due to the pandemic by aiding with temporary boarding. Thank you, CFSA, for caring for every member of our community and their pets, too."

Community Home Repair Projects of Arizona

Community Home Repair Projects of Arizona (CHRP) creates safer places to live by addressing health and safety concerns with efficient home repairs and adaptations to support long term housing solutions for low-income homeowners and their families. The importance of safe, functional, and stable housing is more important than ever as vulnerable populations shelter in place during the pandemic. Scott Coverdale, Director of CHRP, shared about their clients, "Most are elderly or have medical vulnerabilities. Community Home Repair is here for the community and fortunately the community is here for us as well. We find resilience when we collaborate and work together to overcome the challenges of these difficult times."

YMCA of Southern Arizona

The YMCA of Southern Arizona is dedicated to improving the quality of human life and to helping all people realize their fullest potential through the development of Spirit, Mind and Body. Although the pandemic brought uncertainty, the Y has been able to remain focused on the essential services they provide to the southern Arizona community. Kurtis Dawson, President and CEO of YMCA of Southern Arizona, shared that throughout the pandemic they have provided childcare to over 1,300 children, made over 3,900 wellness calls to seniors, and provided 167,000 minutes of virtual wellness.

Dawson stated, "The community support we have received during this challenging time has allowed us to continue to serve our community's most critical needs, thank you!"

CFSA is extremely grateful to the generous donors, fund holders, local foundations and corporations, and community partners who made our COVID-19 Response Grants possible.

Legacy Society

(as of June 30, 2020)

The Legacy Society recognizes donors whose far-sighted generosity will benefit future generations as a result of deferred gifts through their estate plans. These individuals made a commitment to the future of our community by naming the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona in their will, qualified retirement plans, life insurance policies, trusts or other instruments. We recognize these individuals and appreciate their generosity and thoughtfulness.
