REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY

COMMUNITY FOUNDATION
for SOUTHERN ARIZONA

WHAT MISSION

The mission of the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona (CFSA) is to create a stronger community by connecting donors to causes they care about now and forever.

WHY VISION

The vision of the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona (CFSA) is to improve the quality of life in Southern Arizona by stewarding donor and community resources to measurably effect change.

HOW VALUES

Leadership: Our primary responsibility is to enhance donor and public trust by having high ethical standards, honoring our commitments while remaining objective and fostering transparency in all we do.

Stewardship and service: We seek to provide the highest level of service and due diligence to our donors and community. We will value the potential and unique qualities in everyone as we endeavor to empower them to achieve their full potential. We will nurture a trusting relationship with our donors by safeguarding their assets and intent in perpetuity while working to ensure sustainability.

Collaboration: We value the transformative power of partnerships based on mutual interests, trust and respect. We believe that by working together we create a more positive and lasting impact on our community.

Innovation: We seek and stimulate new approaches, perspectives and ideas to address what matters most to the people and communities we serve.

Diversity and inclusion: We will lead by example and use our position in the community to promote greater understanding and use of diversity policies and practices.

MAKING A DIFFERENCE IN SOUTHERN ARIZONA

Welcome to our latest annual report entitled "Connections that Count." This report celebrates the work our donors and volunteers do to connect with and make a difference in our community.

This year we built and fostered connections through collaborations like the African American Initiative which brought nonprofits together to provide educational opportunities for youth, and the Pima Alliance for Animal Welfare which hosted the first mega-adoption pet event in Tucson, where 130 pets were connected with new owners. We also helped link information about our region to the community through the MAP Dashboard Project (mapazdashboard.org), and most importantly, connected to our past at our 35th anniversary by awarding the Buddy Amos Founders Award to the Amos family in honor of Buddy's work to make CFSA a reality.

Thank you for the connections you make that provide opportunity for all in our community.

COLLABORATION COUNTS

AJO REGIONAL FOOD PARTNERSHIP

This isolated community of 3,500 was considered a “food desert” before the partnership began because produce was not grown locally and had to be shipped from Phoenix. A diverse collaboration of groups came together to tackle the issues of building a sustainable local food system, creating community awareness about the importance of making healthy food choices, restoring a rich cultural foods heritage, and developing new food-based economic opportunities for community residents. Through collaboration, Ajo is well on its way to becoming a “food oasis.”

FOSTER ED

The goal of the FosterEd program is to match every foster child with an Educational Champion whose role is to support the child’s school success, just like an actively involved parent would. Implemented in other parts of the country, it has been found to be an effective method of improving educational outcomes. Pima County was selected for the test pilot; the goal is to take the program statewide.

ELDER INITIATIVE

Did you know that 21% of the Pima County population is age 60+ and the fastest growing segment is 85+? Older adults want to remain attached to their communities—contributing as they are able and successfully aging in place. By identifying appropriate resources, expanding networks, and focusing on advocacy, the ELDER Initiative has created a replicable neighborhood-based pilot project while addressing community-wide issues. As captured so succinctly in their mission statement, they are “engaging and empowering the older adults across Tucson to create the ideal community in which to live and grow old gracefully.”

PAAW

Pima Alliance for Animal Welfare is a collaboration working toward ensuring that all Pima County companion animals have a loving home and humane care. An initiative of CFSA, the group currently has three focus areas: supporting the trap/neuter/return program for community cats housed at Pima Animal Care Center; a marketing campaign to adopt locally, culminating in an annual mega-adoption event; and the development of a program to help housebound seniors and disabled individuals get what they need for their pets.

ADOPT LOVE, ADOPT LOCAL

2,300 people attended this mega adoption event resulting in 130 animals finding their forever home. In all, 89 dogs, 29 cats, 1 gerbil, 1 ferret, and 10 reptiles including water turtles, a boa, bearded dragons, and baby sulcata tortoises were adopted. Fifty-eight organizations participated.

AFRICAN AMERICAN INITIATIVE (AAI)

In 2015, AAI launched and conducted its first grant round. To be considered during this inaugural round, nonprofit organizations were required to form a collaboration to deliver services. To foster inclusion at least one member of the partners’ boards and 100% of the program participants had to self-identify as black. AAI awarded a little over $19,000 in grants to support two programs, Culture of Peace Alliance and I am you 360 for their leadership development program, and Thrive Generations and Tucson Spartans Basketball for CHOICES.

WITH GRATITUDE RANDY SODERSTROM

THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION'S LGBT&S ALLIANCE FUND

Randy Soderstrom grew up in the rural countryside of Northern Minnesota. His volunteer work and philanthropy was a deep-set value that came naturally; his attitude toward philanthropy was "that's what people do". It's one of the things that made him a special person.

Known by many in Tucson, Randy was a handsome, likeable and authentic person. He was unassuming, unpretentious and easy to get along with. According to Steve Quinlan, his life partner, "Randy enjoyed a cactus in bloom with the same level of excitement as a trip to Paris." He was a good listener and genuinely interested in meeting new people and learning their story. His friendships were far and wide. Throughout his life, Randy touched many people and believed in something bigger than himself, larger in focus than his own self-interest. He was involved in many community projects but didn't talk much about what he was doing—he just kept working.

Randy enjoyed volunteering for organizations like Southern Arizona AIDS Foundation (SAAF) and Strength for the Journey. He was committed to making the community stronger and better. Randy was dedicated to the pioneering efforts of the LGBT&S Alliance Fund at the Community Foundation and served as chair of the Alliance Fund for many years. In an interview with the Tucson Weekly in 2009 he talked about what he was proud of, "A lot of thought goes into what makes the biggest impact in the community. We monitor the projects we fund through six-month interviews and progress reports, and year-end written reports. If you take a look at the list, we've funded 39 organizations with 83 projects. When I look at those projects, I think about a $4,000 grant to Open Inn, a homeless-youth program. That grant helped them leverage a $500,000 federal grant. That's the kind of strategic giving that we're proud to participate in."

He took great pleasure working alongside leaders and board members Noel Matkin and Doug Noffsinger. His charismatic style proved highly effective and infectious as chair for the LGBT&S Alliance Fund. Randy was the architect of one of Tucson's premiere social event for the LGBT&S Alliance Fund. Randy and Steve opened their home for a "gala evening of music, food, wine and companionship" and always with the consideration that everyone was welcome, whatever their means. They were both committed donors and fundraisers in the community.

When Randy was asked why the "S" (for straight) in LGBT&S, he replied "We look at the community as a whole, and not strictly LGBT community projects. Consequently, we've funded programs with the YWCA, Habitat for Humanity and the Bisbee Coalition for the Homeless. We build a bridge from our smaller LGBT community to the greater community as a whole. I believe that gives us more viability and credibility to our community and our organization."

On his death, the many people who were touched by Randy came forward with memorial gifts to the LGBT&S Alliance Fund at the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona. His partner of many years, Steve Quinlan, matched the funds raised.

Randy Soderstrom was giving of his time, his smile and his heart.

EXPERIENCE COUNTS

OPPORTUNITIES FOR ENGAGEMENT

INDIVIDUALS AND FAMILIES

The Community Foundation for Southern Arizona staff provides personalized service to individuals and families to assist them in identifying their philanthropic goals. We learn about their interests and discuss plans for supporting those interests, whether it is a community effort or a specific nonprofit organization or a religious congregation. There are many ways to fund causes during one's lifetime and beyond. There are also ways to participate in CFSA to build our investment in the community now and forever.

SOUTHERN ARIZONA NONPROFIT ORGANIZATIONS

The CFSA staff serves as a philanthropic resource to nonprofit organizations, building funds to accomplish their missions. This can be done in several ways, such as providing informational seminars to staff and board members about the benefits of estate gifting, consultations with individuals who want to make gifts to these organizations, and providing endowment management services.

SOUTHERN ARIZONA BUSINESSES

CFSA offers expertise and administrative support to large and small corporations and businesses to efficiently contribute to the community. These businesses have the opportunity to benefit from the professional administration services offered by CFSA to leverage their support to the community.

PROFESSIONAL ADVISORS

Individuals rely on professional advisors — attorneys, financial planners, CPAs, trust officers, investment advisors and insurance agents—to guide them in the process of making decisions about their estate plans. These professional advisors collaborate with CFSA staff to set up mechanisms to honor the donor's intent now and forever. They also work with us to build relationships with potential donors and with other professional advisors in the community.

So often the idea of caring for others is turned inward to family. But Les and Barbara Omotani learned from their parents at a young age the importance of recognizing others' needs—whether that person was a family member, a neighbor or even a complete stranger. "The act of helping others is something we do because we believe it is just the right thing to do," says Les.

"Families who needed assistance with hospital or funeral expenses were given support. Widows who had no way to harvest a crop received free labor as a result of 'volunteered' sons!" remembers Les Omotani.

Instilled with this belief in helping others, Les and Barbara knew they wanted to make a long-term philanthropic impact through their estate planning but weren't sure the best way to make that happen. Having previously established their own family foundation and experiencing all the time, effort and expense in its operation, the Omotanis were looking for something different.

"WE WANTED TO COLLABORATE WITH THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION FOR SOUTHERN ARIZONA BECAUSE WE BELIEVED THAT IT WOULD CONTINUE TO BE A VIABLE FOUNDATION FOR MANY, MANY, DECADES INTO THE FUTURE."

Working with their estate planning attorney, John Kendall, Les and Barbara learned ways to use their financial resources to maximize the amount of the gift that would become available to their designated charity. John introduced the Omotanis to the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona as a vehicle for their planned giving. The fund established at CFSA provides for both specific gifting directions and flexibility in case unforeseen events impacted the designated charity in the future.

"We met with Clyde Kunz, Vice President of Development and Donor Services, and were impressed by the experience. Clyde was extremely open, honest and reliable in assisting us in the process of creating a concise and meaningful gifting agreement that would meet our goals and objectives. Ultimately, we wanted to collaborate with the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona because we believed that it would continue to be a viable foundation for many, many, decades into the future."

FAMILY CARING FOR COMMUNITY HARLAN CAPIN

When the Capin family immigrated to the United States in 1893 they carried with them their trade as tailors. The fine tailoring skills along with a reputation of honest, hardworking men of high integrity served the family well. Hyman Capin, the patriarch of the Capin family, was a master tailor. Hyman Capin purchased a retail business in Nogales, Arizona in 1922 and then purchased a second business in 1924 which his sons and sons-in-laws operated. Both were profitable businesses and allowed for a continued commitment to the Mexican border community.

Harlan Capin, Hyman's grandson, knows good business; he knows currency and knows his community. Building a business went hand in hand with supporting his community. He learned from his grandfather, father and uncles that success comes with community responsibility; a responsibility to care for those who are unable to help themselves. That value of caring for others was passed from one generation to the next. For Harlan, charitable giving is "in his blood." Harlan knows what it means to share time, money and influence; so much so that he served for 22 years on the Arizona-Mexico Commission. Harlan Capin was an instrumental force in establishing a much-needed Port Authority in Nogales. He knew it was important for business and it was important for the community.

"Philanthropy came naturally," says Harlan. The Capin family was involved in all aspects of philanthropy; from the donation of basic necessities such as bedding and clothing, to supporting a local hospital expansion. As prominent figures of the Nogales, Arizona and Nogales, Sonora region the Capin family established four-year renewable scholarships for underprivileged Nogales High School graduates to assist them with college. For Harlan, he gets real pleasure when he hears from a scholarship student.

Harlan Capin is an active fundraiser who engages his family in giving and involvement. He makes sure the "funds are thriving." The Capin legacy of philanthropy inspired Harlan Capin's son, Mark Ross Capin. Before his death, Mark established a fund for the Mariposa Community Health Center in the Nogales area.

given to Mariposa Community Health Center

"We are extraordinarily honored that Mark chose to open an endowment for Mariposa Community Health Center. His contribution positively impacts the quality of care that we provide the community," said Eladio Pereira, MD, Chief of Medical Services and Clinical Programs for the Mariposa Health Center.

The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender & Straight (LGBT&S) Alliance Fund seeks to foster charitable giving in support of innovative programs and initiatives that benefit the LGBT community in Southern Arizona. Created in 1999 in partnership with the National Lesbian and Gay Community Funding Partnership, the Fund addresses the chronic pattern of underfunding of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender programs and supports efforts to address these issues through philanthropy and endowment building. The Alliance Fund connects donors with projects that benefit the LGBT community through annual competitive grant rounds.

SUPPORTING TRADITIONS THAT HEAL SHAARON KENT

THE SHAARON KENT ENDOWMENT FUND SUPPORTING THE END OF LIFE CONTINUUM PROJECT

Antonia Moler talks about her mom Shaaron Kent, "Her born nature was to be generous and giving, especially when it involved helping people with less means."

Shaaron experienced tough times as a kid. Antonia continues, "For as long as I can remember her outlook on life and people was extremely optimistic. Whatever way she could help people, either through her occupation or people she met, she would do all she could to help them. She was always conscious of people who didn't have as much as she did and she wanted to share what she had to help them."

Shaaron's smile and laugh were infectious. She loved the Mexican culture and adopted many of its customs. It was in Mexico where she extended her home to a single mom to help her family get back on their feet.

The Shaaron Kent Endowment Fund was established after her tragic and sudden death. The fund has inspired a diversity of projects and perspectives that explore the universal experiences of death, dying and grieving.

Cultures commemorate death in varied ways: roadside memorials, prayer ceremonies, mourning foods, bead adornments. These multicultural traditions are compassionate resources that meaningfully assist in healing and reduce the trauma associated with the end of life.

One grant awarded from the Shaaron Kent Endowment Fund to Southwest Folklife Alliance's initiative has offered a starting point on what multicultural practices in Tucson's varied folk, ethnic, alternative and faith-based groups mean in terms of connecting and comforting Southern Arizona communities.

The journal and the symposium that resulted from the initiative shared cultural knowledge with health care professionals to help them respond with more compassion when confronted with end of life situations.

All of this study and discovery was made possible through the establishment of the Shaaron Kent Endowment Fund. This fund embodies the generosity and intent of Shaaron who embraced the cultural expressions of her adopted home in Mexico.

BISBEE COALITION FOR THE HOMELESS

“Every year Bisbee Coalition provides services like shelter, hot meals, food bags, laundry facilities, shower facilities, warm blankets, socks, t-shirts, and just general advocacy support to our local community and the county as a whole. Any of this would be impossible without the endowment grant we receive through the Community Foundation for Southern Arizona. We are fortunate to live in a very generous community; however, without the endowment grant, the kindness of the donor who established it, and CFSa, we would literally have to shut our doors.”

Bisbee Coalition for the Homeless

WE MAKE A LIVING BY WHAT WE GET,
BUT WE MAKE A LIFE BY WHAT WE GIVE.
— WINSTON CHURCHILL

When it came time to make a distribution of their funds Don and Dee Johnson contacted the Community Foundation. Based on their interest in social services they discussed multiple community options for their investments. After the prompt and comprehensive service from the Community Foundation they were confident that their decision supported the causes they care about.

IMAGO DEI MIDDLE SCHOOL

“Imago Dei Middle School is the only private school in Tucson serving low-income children at no cost to families, breaking cycles of poverty through education. We are grateful to Community Foundation for Southern Arizona for understanding the mission of Imago Dei and connecting our school to donors committed to quality education for all children. Imago Dei is honored to be a 2015 grant recipient of donor-advised funds. Connections count when it comes to creating a bright future for our children and our community.”
